MAYOR, SHERIFF AND OTHER NOTABLES HELD AS MEMBERS OF HUGE LIQUOR RING

Hundreds Of Thousands On Strike In The Zone Occupied By The French

PARIS, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The complete isolation of the Ruhr Valley, the absolute severance of its communications with the rest of Germany, was announced in government circles today as the next step in the French struggle against German resistance, if that resistance continues.

(By The United Press)

Germany's passive sabotage in the Ruhr gained momentum today, as mine owners, whose arrest precipitated a strike that now has spread to include 100,000 workers are due to face the first of French occupational court martial at Mayence.

Miners who worked through the first day of "the resistance" strike, joined those idle in ever-increasing numbers today, according to The Operators' League.

Railroads were running in slipshod fashion, telephone and telegraph communications were further disrupted by attempts of French operators to man the switch boards and tension was higher through provocative acts of French patrols in Essen.

Germany seized the opportunity to notify the allies she could not pay any reparations with the French in the Ruhr and further protested the invasion.

France retorted by permitting details of a plan to isolate the Ruhr economically to become public through semi-official channels.

The French would stop all transport of fuel and manufactured goods between the occupied territory and Germany, issue a special Ruhr currency and force the workers to labor or starve, it was indicated in Paris.

Meanwhile interest centered in the trial of Fritz Thyssen and other industrial leaders at Mayence.

Court Martial Postponed Till Tomorrow

MAYENCE, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The trial of Fritz Thyssen and five other industrial magnates arrested in the Ruhr, set for today, has been postponed until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is understood that Dr. Frederik Grimm, attorney for the men, accused of refusing to obey the orders of the French has pleaded lack of jurisdiction and incompetence of the French court.

Dr. Grimm is reported to have asked that the case be referred to the permanent court of international justice at The Hague.

$10,000 Is Offered For The Solution Of Murders

WACO, Texas, Jan. 23.—(By the A. P.)—Reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who killed W. E. Holt, and Mrs. Ethel Dencamp, last Friday night, Grady Skipworth, November 20, last year and Harrell Bolton, May 24, last, stood at $2,500 today with prospects of the total reaching $10,000.

C. S. Farmer, county attorney, announced if there were developments in the Holt-Dencamp double slaying to warrant a grand jury investigation, he would request a special session of the grand jury if that could be done legally.

According to Miss Helen Jacobs, sister of Mrs. Dencamp, another sister, said she dreamed of seeing Mrs. Dencamp and Holt in an automobile wreck on the Tehuacana bridge. Miss Jacobs was in the automobile party which found the two bodies Sunday afternoon after officers failed to find them. She is being questioned by officials.

A railroad brakeman and a student of the local business college are being held in connection with the Holt-Dencamp deaths.

Skipworth was shot and killed when automobile with a young woman, Bolton also was killed while with a young woman. Both young women said negroes killed their escorts and then mistreated them.

SEVEN REFUGEE SHIPS, 500 PERSONS ABOARD ARE MISSING

MANILA, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Fear is expressed here that seven Russian refugee ships with more than five hundred persons aboard have been lost in the China sea enroute from Shanghai to the Philippines as part of Admiral Stark's fleet of Vladivostok exiles, five ships of which are anchored near here. The missing vessels have not been heard of for more than two weeks.

Admiral Stark is with the ships which have found temporary haven in Bolin Cove. But his white fleet of homeless Siberians has no place on earth to land permanently. Pushed onward, first from Korea then from China, it was given permission only to linger a while in the Philippines.

Plans may be worked out however, for the refugees to remain in the Philippines.

Admiral Stark and his officers asserted that they were very desirous of remaining in the Philippines or anywhere else under the American flag.

Sues Shoe Manufacturer For Using Celluloid For Leather

HARRISVILLE, W. VA., January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—It was cold the other day when Mrs. Hugo Moats, of Harrisville, sat down before an open gas fire to warm her feet. A few minutes later she was startled by an explosion, which she says, tore off the tip of one of her shoes. Her toes were so badly injured that amputation was necessary.

Today Mrs. Moats filed suit in circuit court here for $3,000, charging that the manufacturer used celluloid instead of leather in the inner lining of the shoe tips.

DRAMATIC STATEMENT BY FATHER IN COURT

MEMPHIS, TENN., January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—John W. Hudson, Sr., father of the White Haven, Tenn., dairy man, who is charged with killing Mrs. Mattie B. Ferguson here last February, made the dramatic declaration during his son's trial yesterday that he and not his son was holding the pistol when the fatal shot was fired. No warrant for his arrest had been issued early today.

British Fear Being Involved In Ruhr

LONDON, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The anxiety, so widespread here regarding the dangerous situation in the Ruhr, is emphasized by reports that the French are extending their activities to the Cologne area. News of the French order for the expulsion of German officials in the British zone reached London late for much comment in the morning newspapers, but in the few criticisms appearing there was apparent a disquietude over the prospect that British forces in the Cologne area might be drawn into a fresh conflict with the Germans.

The call for withdrawal of the British troops, which was raised in some quarters when the French first went into the Ruhr, again comes into prominence today. Although the demand is not yet general, withdrawal is seriously discussed as among the steps which Great Britain may be forced to take in order to avoid becoming involved in a menacing situation which the majority opinion here insists this nation must keep out of.

The comment thus far has been emphatic in asserting that Great Britain must maintain the neutrality of the Cologne district, keeping aloof from participation in any arrests or expulsions the French may wish to enforce there.

Report that the French had ordered the expulsion of German finance officers in Cologne reached London in an Essen dispatch to The Times. The correspondent said that the situation had reached the point where the British must either acquiesce to the French plan or withdraw their troops.

Endearing Terms In Letter Movie Star Wrote, "Dot" Says

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Belief that the $200,000 damage action brought by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark as the guardian of her daughter, Dorothy Clark, dancer, against Herbert Hawthorn, motion picture actor, would be settled out of court, grew today.

Mrs. Clark charged that the actor attacked the dancer in an apartment in New York in 1920, when the girl was only 15 years old. The mother, regarded as an important witness, was too ill yesterday to appear in court at the opening session, and a continuance was granted until February 23.

Judge J. Perry Wood of the superior court as a preliminary to granting the continuance, said from the bench, "it would be desirable" if a settlement could be reached out of court.

The dancer was called to the stand to identify a number of letters which she testified the actor had written her. These contained such terms as "My Baby," "Darling Girl," "Sweetheart," and "Precious Mine," one beginning "My Own Dear Darling Dot," contained the sentence: "For both our sakes, please destroy this letter."

Inventor Of "Clylograph" Dies At Age Of Seventy-One

CHICAGO, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Addison C. Thomas, who a quarter of a century ago was one of the most widely known newspaper men in the United States, died early today after a brief illness. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Thomas was for a long time superintendent of the Central Division of The Associated Press, with headquarters in Chicago.

In Chicago, in the eighties he first demonstrated the possibility of the use of the typewriter by operators in receiving telegraphic news. This increased the carrying capacity of circuits and immediately added greatly to the volume of news delivered to the newspapers of the country, a distinct boon to readers.

The introduction of typewriters was brought about only after much less experimenting by Mr. Thomas. The device known as the cly-

Capitol Jokes

By Edward T. Taylor U. S. Representative From Colorado Fourth District

HERE isn't anything essentially funny in spending seven months in any army hospital with death from heart disease just around the corner every minute. Such was my experience.

But there is a grim sort of humor among the patients and attendants in such a hospital.

When I first was brought in I overheard one of the other new patients ask the orderly:

"What's this 'M. D. U. S. A.' that's printed on the all the supplies around here mean?"

"Oh, that means, 'Many die, you shall also,'" the orderly laughed.

Strikers Charged They Were Forced Either To Promise To Work Or To Leave Territory

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 23.—(By the A. P.)—Charges by strikers on the Missouri and North Arkansas Railroad that during the disorders at Harrison they were forced either to promise to return to work or agree to leave the railroad's territory were expected to be supplemented today by testimony of officials of Harrison and Boone counties in the inquiry into the disorders by the Arkansas legislative committee.

Thus far testimony at the inquiry has been confined to stories by strikers who either fled or were driven from the Harrison region by the "Citizens' committee."

Of the six strikers heard yesterday, four charged they were visited by members of the citizens committee, and were told they must either sign papers promising to return to work for the railroad or leave the territory.

In the first day's testimony the charge by Redd Orr and Luther Wise that they pleaded guilty to a charge of arson, of which they claim they were innocent, because of the fear that they would be lynched, created the most interest.

They accepted sentences of from seven to ten years each.

George Huey, one of the witnesses testifying at last night's hearing, declaring that three men "wearing black masks" entered the Rotary Club rooms at Harrison and took E. C. Gregor from his temporary prison. Gregor's body was later found hanging from a trestle.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves about 50% Easily and quickly prepared.

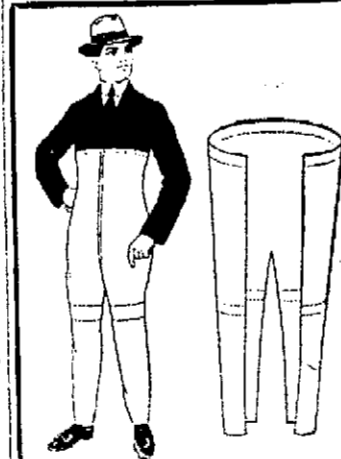

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugstore 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else guaranteed to give absolutely satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. Cocoon Oil Fine

For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This alkali, which makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Multified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and grease oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright and fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multified. — Advertisement.

Do You Know This About Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets?

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets are made especially for Medium and Stout Women — for women who are "hard to fit," yet who desire the grace of figure that a perfect fitting corset gives — and who appreciate corset-comfort with good looks.

Many a stout woman's tragedy is not so much "I am stout" as "I look stout." And it is all the more a tragedy because it is unnecessary, for thru proper corseting the stout woman can achieve an effect of slenderness. Rengo Corsets have proved this to many stout women.

The stout woman who has attractive clothes, but does not look smartly gowned, naturally feels that it is because she is stout. But she is mistaken! She can attain this style, with a poise and distinction impossible for the small woman, if she is properly corseted. Her greatest need is a Rengo Belt Reducing Corset.

An attractive figure is not a matter of size—it is a matter of correct proportions. Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets thru proper proportioning give the wearer an appearance of slenderness.

The exclusive Rengo Belt feature is the greatest advance ever made in a reducing corset. It reduces the appearance of excess flesh or heaviness and moulds the figure to the lines of prevailing fashion.

The Rengo Belt corrects the abdominal and hip lines in the stout figure, yet gives a degree of ease and freedom which must be experienced to be appreciated.

The exclusive Rengo characteristics are the direct result of the patented Rengo Belt features, which make the corsets doubly strong, keep them in shape, and give elasticity and freedom. Let us show you the wonderful tailoring of Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets.

Rengo Belt Corsets are priced at $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $6.50 and $7.00. Expert Corsetiere constantly in attendance.

THREE VISITS HOME

CHILLICOTHE, Jan. 22.—Pushing out the key in the back door, a burglar used a skeleton key to enter the home of L. C. Mansfield, 166 North Sugar street, last night, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock, according to records at the police station.

Whenever the visitor was, he turned the house topsy-turvy and rifled every drawer. He took with him a $5 bill, a raincoat belonging to Mr. Mansfield, who was out of town, shirt and trousers belonging to the little boy and a ruby-set ring, the property of the little girl. He also took a grip that was locked with a Yale lock, but evidently deciding not to fool with this, he tossed it in between two houses nearby.

USEFULNESS OF BLACK-DRAUGHT

Louisiana Lady Tells How This Well-Known Liver Medicine Helped Her Obtain Relief

Baton Rouge, La.—"After having used many laxatives, I chanced to hear of Black-Draught, and decided to use it as a liver tonic," says Mrs. E. B. Odum, of 338 South Boulevard this city.

"Black-Draught acted on my liver, cleansed my system, and I was in much better condition after having used it," says Mrs. Odum.

"Black-Draught relieves the swelling, or lightness in the head.

"It relieves the heavy feeling after meals, which indicated to me it was good for indigestion.

"So I keep Black-Draught in the house and use it for colds, headache, sour stomach and torpid liver. I have told my friends, and they use it also.

"My present health is improved wonderfully."

Thousands of people have learned of the value of Black-Draught from personal experience, and have chosen it as their favorite powdered liver medicine. It is purely vegetable; not disagreeable to take; causes no bad after-effects.

124 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.of sturdy rogues whom his whistle had summoned, were crouching for shelter amid the wreckage of the forecastle with grapnels ready.
Within nine of ten yards of the Victorienne, when their way seemed spent, and their forward deck already awash under the eyes of the jeering, cheering Frenchmen, those men shot up and forward, and hurled their grapnels across the chasm.
Blood, watching from his own quarterdeck, sent out his voice in a daring call:"Musketiers to the prow!"
The musketiers, at their station at the waist, obeyed him with the speed of men who know that in obedience is the only hope of life.
Starboard to starboard the two ships swung against each other with a jarring thud. By then Blood was down in the waist, judging and acting with the lightning speed of the occasion. The foundering Arabella was literally kept afloat by the half dozen grapnels that in an instant moored her firmly to the Victorien.Willoughby and van der Kuylen on the poop had watched in breathless amazement the speed and precision with which Blood and his disciple crew had gone to work. And now he came racing up, his bugle sounding the charge, the main host of the buccanniers following him, whilst the vanguard, led by the gunner Ogle, who had been driven from his guns by water in the gun-deck, kept shouting to the prow of the Victorienne, to whose level the high poop of the water-logged Arabella had sunk. Led now by Blood himself, they launched themselves upon the stang they have brought to bay.
After them went others, until all had gone, and none but Willoughby and the Dutchman were left to watch the fight from the quarterdeck of the abandoned Arabella.For fully half an hour that battle raged about the Frenchman. The buccanniers fought with the desperate fury of men who know that retreat is impossible, for there was no ship to which they could retreat, and here they must prevail and make the Victorienne their own or perish.And their own they made her in the end, at a cost of nearly half their numbers. Ricard went down with a bullet in his head, and the French remnant, numbering scarcely a score of whole men, called for quarter.HE TURNED AND PRESENTED TO LORD WILLOUGHBY A FORMIDABLE FRONT.Even then the labors of Blood's men were not at an end. The Elizabeth and the Medina were tight-locked, and Hagthorpe's followers were being driven back aboard their own ship for the second time. Whilst Pitt and his seamen bore their part with the sails, and Ogle went below with a gun crew, Blood ordered the grapnels to be loosened at once. Lord Willoughby and the Admiral were already aboard the Victorienne. As they swung off to the rescue of Hag-thorpe, Blood, from the quarterdeck of the conquered vessel, looked his last upon the ship that had served him so well, the ship that had become to him almost as a part of himself. A moment she rocked after her release, then slowly and gradually settled down, the water gurgling and eddying about her topsides, all that remained visible to mark the spot where she had met her death.As he stood there above the ghostly shambles in the waist of the Victorienne, someone spoke behind him. Captain Blood, never before have I seen the impossible made possible by resource and valor, or victory so gallantly snatched from defeat."He turned, and presented to Lord Willoughby a formidable front. His headpiece was gone, his breastplate dented, his right sleeve a rag hang-ing from his shoulder about a naked arm. He was splashed from head to foot with blood, and there was blood from a scalp wound that he had taken, matted hair and mixing with the grime of powder on his face to render him unrecognizable.
But from that horrible mask two vivid eyes looked out preternaturally bright, and from those eyes, two tears had plowed each a furrow through the filth of his cheeks.

CHAPTER XXXI

His Excellency, the Governor.
WHEN the cost of that victory came to be counted it was found that of 320 buccanniers who had left Cartagena with Captain Blood, a bare hundred remained sound and whole. The Elizabeth had suffered so seriously that it was doubtful if she could ever again be rendered seaworthy, and Hagthorpe, who had so gallantly commanded her in that last action, was dead.
Against this stood the facts that Blood's buccanniers had saved Jamica from bombardment and pillage, and they had captured the fleet of M. de Rivarol, and set for the benefit of King William the splendid treasure which she carried.It was not until the evening of the following day that van der Kuylen's truant fleet of nine ships came to anchor in the harbor of Port-Royal, and its officers, Dutch and English, were made acquainted with their Admiral's true opinion of their worth.Six ships of that fleet were instantly refitted for sea. There were other West Indian settlements demanding the visit of inspection of the new Governor-General, and Lord Willoughby was in haste to sail for the Antilles."And meanwhile," he complained to his Admiral, "I am detained here by the absence of this fool of a Deputy-Governor.""So," said van der Kuylen, "But why should that detain you?"
"That I may break the dog as he deserves, and appoint his successor in some man fitted in a sense of where his duty lies, and with the ability to perform it.""Ah! But it is not necessary you remain for that. And meantime de Vrench vil haf der ey on Barbados, rich is not well defended.
You but there just de man you want. He vill require no instructions, dis one. He vill know how to make Port Royal safe, bedder nor you or me.""You mean Blood?"
"Of course. Could any man be bedder? You haf seen what he can do.""You think so, too, eh? Egad! I had thought of it; and, rip me, why not?"
Blood was sent for. He came, spruce and debonair once more, having exploited the resources of Port Royal so to render himself. He was a trifle dazed by the honor proposed to him, when Lord Willoughby made it known."I had counted upon going home, so I had. I am hungry for the green lanes of England," Blood sighed.
"There will be apple blossoms in the orchards of Somerset.""Apple blossoms!" His lordship's voice shot up like a rocket, and cracked on the word. "What the devil...? Apple blossoms?" He looked at van der Kuylen."The Admiral raised his brows, and passed his heavy lips. His eyes twinkled humorously in his great face.

Dear Dolly—Some time ago you printed a recipe for Beauty Balm in the paper and I intended to cut it out, but lost the paper and the recipe and I am asking you to please publish it again. It was in liquid form.

INTERESTED READER
Liquid Face Powder—(Balm of Beauty)—One ounce of glycerine, one ounce of alcohol, one-half ounce of perfume, one-half ounce of pure prepared chalk. One grain of carbolic acid will give it a flesh tint if desired. Shake well and apply to the face with a soft sponge. When thoroughly dry carefully remove any superfluous traces, and the result will be very satisfactory where powder has ceased to avail.

1 cup cornmeal.
1 1/2 teaspoons salt.
4 cups boiling water.

Bit of bay leaf.
6 pepper coriander (ground pepper).

Not Nice

That dingy film on teeth

Millions now combat it

You see today white glistening teeth—teeth that look clean and safe. And you see dingy teeth. Let us show you where the difference lies. See what a change can come in a week. Ask for this ten-day test.

Combat the film

Film is what makes teeth cloudy, and film ruins teeth. That is the vicious coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

It is curdled

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle it, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. These two great film combatants have come to millions by it. That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Careful people of some 50 nations now employ it, largely by dental advice. New beauty and new safety have come to millions by it.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

SOME people sent valentine postcards. Nancy couldn't help reading them as she put them into the mail boxes in hickory tree post-office.
"There were valentines for nearly everybody, even for those wooden folk who had not returned from Dreamland. Their mail would be waiting for them when they came back."
"One to Bill Frog went: 'Your vest is white, your coat is green. You look just like the Fairy Queen. And if at last a boy you see, Just give a hop and think of me.'"
"Crazy!" said Nancy.
"That's a home-made one," declared Mr. Stumps.

"Aren't they all home-made?" asked Nick.
"Goodness no," answered Mr. Stumps, perfectly surprised. "There's a little fairy called—oh, oh, I forgot what he's called, who writes valentines to order. Nice ones, funny ones, ugly ones, loving ones—oh, just any kind at all. Ha, I have it. He's called 'Forget-me-not.'"
"Here's one he wrote. It's for Chick Chickadee, to send to Belinda Bluebird. She'll be here very soon from the South. Listen: 'Robins are red, and bluebirds are blue. Skybirds sing sweetly and so do you. I looked in the East, I looked in the West."

But you and the one I love the best. 'That's a fine one!' said Nancy. 'I think the chickadee has some manners. Did any one send him any? He's stayed around the woods all winter and I think he deserves one.' They looked all over the mail, but there was none for the little bird. So Nancy wrote and like this: 'Chickadee-dee, way up in your tree. Old winter will soon be over, and soon 'twill be spring and then you can sing. All day long 'till the daisies and clover.'"
"He'll be ever so much obliged," said Mr. Stumps kindly. "He's a nice little fellow. Oh say: Just look at this. A perfect whale of a valentine for Miss Tig from Buster Brown-Bear. Buster is away off in Dreamland. He must have written it there."

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

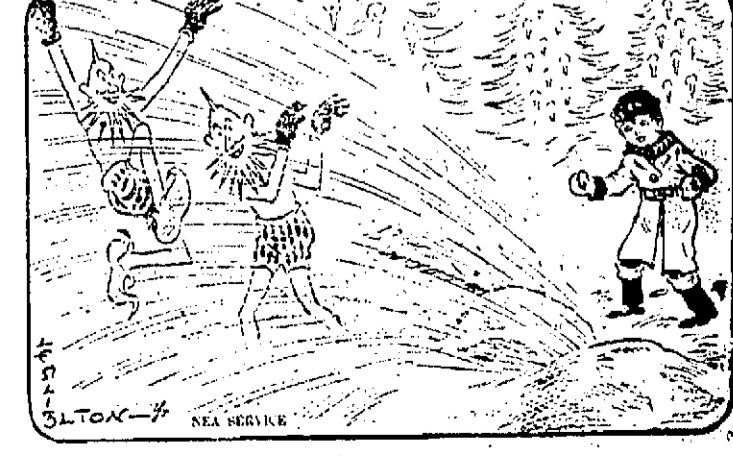

Shortly the ice cream cone grove was reached. There were many trees and on every one hung dozens and dozens of ice cream cones. "Here is the way you eat the cones," explained a Freeze, as he stood on his tiptoes and licked the ice cream from the point of one of the cones.

Help yourself!

"Help yourself!" shouted several of the Freezes, and Jack didn't need a second invitation. However, he found that it was easier to pick the cones off the trees and eat them. So he did this, and after eating several stuck some in the ground so Flip too, could enjoy them.

BY ELTON

The cones chilled Flip, and to warm himself up a bit, the dog started frolicking around. He finally stopped and started digging a big hole in the snow. As his paws threw up big bits of snow the Freezes ran in and out of the snow, having great fun. Then King Blizzard appeared. (Continued.)

Bloom Returns After Ohio Solons "Get After Him"

COLUMBUS, O., January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Governor Earl D. Bloom, who is in the state as presiding officer of the senate, returned to Columbus today after a brief absence from his home in Bowling Green.

He made a statement to the senate explaining that his absence had been due to urgent court business at his home in Bowling Green.

COLUMBUS, O., January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Governor Earl D. Bloom was expected to return to Columbus today and resume his work of presiding over the state senate, the Republican members of which yesterday voted to appoint a committee "to ascertain the cause" of his absence since January 8, the day he was inaugurated.

The resolution embodying provision for appointment of the committee introduced by Senator McCoy, Republican, Mahoning county, was rushed through the senate in a ten-minute session yesterday with Senator Briggs, Erie county, the only Democrat present to vote on the proposal to investigate the absence of the presiding officer, a member of the same party. He did not vote on the resolution but immediately wired Mr. Bloom, who replied that he had been away in court, that he would return this afternoon, and that Majority Floor Leader Kyrle, who had been active in arranging for submission of the resolution, had known of the reasons for his absence.

The action of the senate was taken after Mr. Bloom had failed to appear in the senate chamber since inauguration day, and senators and others disavowed any knowledge of his absence. Democratic members of the senate said today that they planned to make no statement in regard to the matter, and it was not known whether Mr. Bloom would take official notice of the incident when he again appeared on the rostrum.

C. E. RALLY THURSDAY NIGHT

After announcements had been made Sunday in all of the Christian Endeavor Societies in the county concerning the rally to be held in the Second Presbyterian church, Thursday night at 7:30, the committees in charge of arrangements were assured that General Secretary Frank L. Preet of the Ohio C. E. Union will be given a rousing reception when he comes to speak at that meeting.

Delegates are promised from virtually every Christian Endeavor Society of the Senior and Intermediate age in the county, and much interest is being manifested in reorganizing the County Union.

Plans for the meeting Thursday night include a real Christian Endeavor song service at 7:30. Mr. Preet's address and short talks by other speakers; the reorganization of the county union; and then an hour of social fellowship, followed by refreshments.

Large Crowds Expected

A large crowd is expected to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Terminals Church to hear what is probably the best negro quartette in the county. Many folks from down town are planning to go out to the Terminals for this entertainment.

The Harrod Jubilee Singers, who will appear at the Terminals Church on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, are widely known for their ability to reproduce the old negro plantation and camp meeting songs as they were sung in the old slave days. They have traveled all over this country, Canada, England, the West Indies, Australia, and Hawaii, giving their programs. They have been immensely popular wherever they have gone.

The members of the quartette are Mr. Archie Harrod, tenor; Miss Frelia Shaw, soprano; Miss Malinda

A Ford touring car belonging to Clifford Erwin was parked near the White machine and the thief who took the White machine also cashed the Erwin machine, but nothing of value was taken. The seat cushions were taken out and not replaced in the Erwin machine.

The theft of Mr. White's car was reported to the police and about 9:30 Monday morning the missing machine was found on Sixth street near the court house by Raymond Karg, a local autoist. The car was probably taken by joy riders who abandoned the car after using it for several hours.

READY TO ISOLATE RUHR VALLEY

DORTMUND, Jan. 23.—(By the A. P.)—French troops have been installed as guards over all exits from the Ruhr Valley by railroad or canal. They are ready, it is announced, to achieve complete isolation of the Ruhr within 12 hours in the event of a general strike or rioting.

One Hundred Thousand Ruhr Miners On Strike

ESSEN, January 23.—(By the United Press)—One hundred thousand Ruhr miners are now on strike against French occupation, mine owners announced today. German industrial leaders again issued a proclamation calling upon workers to refuse to deliver coal to the invaders at the hour when Fritz Thyssen and six other coal operators were to go on trial. Thyssen was taken ill. More and more Westphalian miners joined the strikers today. Six mines in the vicinity of Essen closed down because the French refused to hear workers' intercession on behalf of the six industrial leaders who it is reported are to be sentenced to three months in jail. Citizens of Essen were in angry mood today following the march of a French patrol through the heart of the city, pushing pedestrians off the sidewalks.

Telegraph and telephone connections between the Ruhr and Berlin were chaotic today. French troops and volunteer French telephone operators took over the exchanges, when the Germans refused to handle the invaders' business. Lack of experience and fluency in speaking German on the part of amateur operators, helped complicate matters, and when the German operators were denied admittance to the offices, wires were cut in various places and the service generally went to pieces. More arrests were made today. Ship workers, machinists and stokers on Rhine craft declared a strike in protest against having to work under bayonets. A dispatch from Aix-La Chapelle said that an American officer was shot at by an unknown person in the rear of the Belgian headquarters. The officer was not hit and the assailant escaped.

Many Coal Miners Refuse To Lay Down Tools

DUESSELDORF, January 23.—(By the Associated Press)—The majority of the Ruhr coal miners were still at work at noon despite appeals from their union headquarters at Muenster and Elberfeld that they lay down their tools.

At the same time the British are instructed not to co-operate with the French in such operations or allow themselves to become involved in any incidents of this nature.

Beggs Demands Investigation Of Ohio State Professor

WASHINGTON, January 23.—(By the United Press)—The Ohio senate today is asked by Representative James Beggs, of Sandusky, to investigate the activities of Professor J. L. Faulkner, head of the department of rural economies at the Ohio State University. Faulkner, Beggs alleges, in a letter to George E. Kyrle, president pro tem of the senate, is engaged in sending out "Democratic bunk." The specific complaint is a piece of publicity distributed by the agriculture college extension service to state dairies and semi-weekly papers entitled Farm Tariff Seen as "Gilded Brick." Faulkner is accused as saying farming interests were handed a gold brick with an ex-coeditor of this venue in the present tariff law. Beggs, who is assistant Republican whip of the house, taking exception to this interpretation of a Republican law by a state university professor, suggested to Kyrle "that a Republican legislator ought to see to it that some of these fellows work without salary." "The Democratic party will be glad to pay them, if they keep this up." Continuing, Beggs said: "It strikes one as rather queer to have agricultural college in Columbus which is supported by Republican taxpayers, send out this kind of publicity in face of the fact that thirty farm organizations endorsed the tariff bill and asked us to vote for it." Beggs expresses hope that the legislature will investigate it and give this partisan professor something else to think about.

COLUMBUS, O., January 23.—(By the United Press)—Professor Faulkner today reiterated his views on the tariff and his opinion seemed to be "the general opinion," he said. Faulkner announced that he would welcome any investigation. I know of no law he said which forbids a professor from giving his opinion.

Echo of Auto Collision

Echo of a collision between automobiles which occurred on the Portsmouth-Columbus highway, eight miles north of Chillicothe on the night of Sept. 6, 1921, was heard by Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Tuesday when the suit of C. W. G. Hannah, real estate dealer, of this city, against Peter Francisco, 902 Michigan avenue, Columbus restaurateur came to trial.

The machines were traveling in opposite directions and met head-on in front of the home of William H. Callahan, tenant on the Barton Walters farm, and Callahan and wife, eye-witnesses to the collision, were present in court and testified for the plaintiff, who sued for $300, damages to his Studebaker automobile although he stated on the witness stand that repairs had cost him but $97. He charged that the accident was due to the reckless manner in which the defendant handled his car and as a result of Francisco's alleged intoxicated condition. The defendant denied the charges and further denied that he was in any way at fault and laid the blame for the collision to the negligent and careless driving on the part of Hannah.

Attorney C. M. Searl for plaintiff and Attorney A. H. Bandon for defendant.

Have Color In Cheeks
Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion faded—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod-liver-oil—are prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy—the childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod-liver-oil, but they have no dangerous after-effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the amazing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 50c—Advertisement.

GOWNS AND WRAPS

Parisian costumers get beautiful effects by designing wraps and costumes to match. Velvet frocks with matching capes, lined with silver cloth or brocade, are very lovely.

NEGLEGES

Negligees are often made of two or three tones of georgette, which gives a decidedly beautiful and changeable effect. Long wing draperies that hang to the floor are featured on them.

The Joys Of Sight

Forget—if you can—that you are able to see. Not out the wonders of nature and art. What a dismal, dreary world this would be Now—think what joys our glasses assure you, if your vision is dim and faulty.

Mr. Jordan Has Close Call When Auto Goes Over Towpath Bank

When Alan N. Jordan, proprietor of the Washington Hotel crawled out through the top of his wrecked Dodge coupe yesterday evening after it had plunged through the fence along the towpath, on the Scioto river side, and turned over twice before it came to a stop in the "bottoms," he said to himself, "I'm lucky," when he realized he was unhurt. When he took a look at the wrecked car this morning, saw the top completely demolished, broken glass scattered about on the ground, the steering wheel smashed, etc., he realized that "lucky" was scarcely forcible enough a word. All who viewed the wreckage and the accident scene found it difficult to believe that anyone could have been in the automobile when it was so badly torn up and still come out virtually unhurt.

The accident happened about six o'clock last night when Mr. Jordan turned abruptly to the left, while driving toward the city from his farm, in an effort to avoid striking a big truck which he says was traveling without lights showing in the rear. He was well over to the right side of the road, as in his confusion in driving on the towpath, and while still some distance from the intersection with the Y road, dimmed his lights in response to the actions of the driver of a machine coming the opposite way. An instant later, right in front of him, he saw a big truck, going the same way he was traveling, but with no lights showing in the rear, he says. When he saw the truck he was so close he had little time to avoid a crash. The bed of the big truck was so high that he realized the hood of his machine would pass under it, and he would then be crushed. With this thought in mind Mr. Jordan turned to the left in an effort to dodge the vehicle ahead, and succeeded in clearing it. But the turn was so abrupt, that, as was clearly shown this morning, the rear wheels kept skidding when he tried to straighten out his machine, and an instant later he struck the board fence along the road. The coupe leaped out into space, dropped to the ground several feet away, turned over twice, and came to a stop fully fifteen feet down from the road, and thirty feet more out in the bottoms. Half amazed from the shock, Mr. Jordan's first thought was to get out, and he found there was nothing to prevent him from crawling away from the wreckage, the top having been completely demolished. When he found he could walk, and apparently had suffered no injuries he turned to the machine, and found that the engine was still running, and the lights were burning. He turned the switches, and then started back toward the road.

By this time two men had come to where he had gone through the fence, and were discussing what was best to be done. They were the two men who had been on the truck. Both were sure that whoever had gone over the bank was dead, as it did not seem possible that anyone could escape after such an accident, and were rather startled when hailed by Mr. Jordan.

It developed the men were drivers of a Portsmouth Ice and Coal Company truck, and had been on the West Side, and were returning to Portsmouth. They said their machine had been acting badly, and that they were carrying a lantern for light. Mr. Jordan was positive that the lantern never showed in the rear. Mr. Jordan rode part way to the city on the truck, and then was picked up by Wm. Liston, of the West Side and brought on home. Mr. Jordan had a few bruised spots about his body and a slight abrasion under one eye as reminders of the accident. He can understand this, but is at a loss to figure out how the top of one of his socks was completely torn to pieces, and yet he has no scratches or bruises on that leg. He was kept busy today receiving the congratulations of his friends over his fortunate escape.

FARMERS TO GET RATE AT MEETING

Those who take steps to do so, may make the round trip from Portsmouth to Columbus for Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University there, at a cost of $5.40 instead of $7.20 the usual fare.

The dates of Farmers' Week this year are from Monday, Jan. 29th to February 2nd. Certificates by which this rate of fare and a half on the round trip may be obtained will be issued with tickets sold to Columbus from Thursday, January 25 until Wednesday January 31, but on no other dates.

It is said that the old procedure in granting this rate did not work well, as some who were not Farmers' Week visitors were able to take advantage of it, and so virtually "beat" the railroads out of a quarter of the fare. This year, therefore, an entirely new plan will be followed.

House Appropriates 7 Millions To Complete Ohio River Dams

Good news continues to come for Ohio Valley. News which means much to the future development of this great section, and which is of vital import to the future prosperity of the entire country. The harbinger of development is the announcement from Washington that the House has appropriated $7,000,000 for the Ohio River.

With this sum appropriated work on nearly all of the remaining dams in the Ohio may be started and the long hoped-for waterway route will be a reality in a few years.

This announcement comes close upon the starting of the survey for the Lake Erie-Ohio River waterway route, which undoubtedly will become a reality in a few more years, and when this project and the dams in the Ohio are completed, the Ohio Valley will more rapidly assume its standing as the workshop of the nation.

Those who have made a study of the natural resources of the country are almost unanimous in reaching the conclusion that if the United States is to hold its own in competition with other nations, the fullest opportunity for development must be afforded this section. The members of the House are to be congratulated upon their far-sightedness in recognizing this fact, and it is felt that the senate will likewise realize the importance of these projects and concur in the action of the House.

P. H. S. AND SCIOTOVILLE CLASH IN HIGH SCHOOL GYM TONIGHT

Play Starts At 8 O'Clock

At eight o'clock tonight the annual battle will be on between the P. H. S. boys and the Sciotoville boys in the gym before a crowd that is expected to exceed all others for attendance.

Last season P. H. S. won over Sciotoville in an extra five minute period, the regular time for the game ending in a tie. This year the teams are almost the same and another stiff battle should result.

Coch Selby of Sciotoville has the utmost confidence in his boys and is depending on them to give P. H. S. a surprise party. Coach Selby will use Haggard and Kinkler at forward, Kinkler filled a forward position last year and a real star this season. Williams, center for P. H. S. will make a good match for Phillips of the local squad. At guard Sciotoville will use Cross and Waddell who have been playing a mighty fine brand of basketball so far this season.

Coach Unger of the Reds and Blue will send in Ellsworth and Munk as guards to start the game with Williams and C. Flowers at the guard positions.

NEW HERO

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Elliott "Red" O'Brien is to receive a trial as a hero of the American League season, is a hero of the World War.

O'Brien began his baseball career as a pitcher and was meeting with much success when the United States went into the World War. O'Brien joined the marines, saw two years of service in France, and was decorated for distinguished service.

While overseas he was gassed. Returning to this country he found his ball-playing ability greatly impaired. His love for the game caused him to take a while to unpipe. He made good.

For the past two years he has worked in the Western League. His work was so uniformly good it attracted the attention of President Johnson of the American League, who offered him a contract for 1923. He accepted.

LITTLE AFTER WISCONSIN COACHSHIP

The Columbus Dispatch says: Athletic Director Tom Jones, of the University of Wisconsin, sends out information that 50 applications have been received for the position of football director at the Madison institution. Of these 50, he also points out, the field of possible choice has narrowed to eleven. Of these eleven, George Little, assistant to Yost at Michigan, is one.

That is the basis for all the talk that Little has been offered the position of head football coach at Wisconsin. "We have made no offer to any person," said Jones in reply to a query, "and we do not expect to take action for at least a month more." So the whole thing is news to Jones as well as to Little. It isn't very likely that the former Miami coach will be lured away from Michigan, where conditions are satisfactory, for a football position at Madison. Little is heading straight for the head coachship at Ann Arbor with friendly surroundings and where money can be paid along with the best of them for his service. We have known Little for many years and believe that he isn't foolish.

O. W. U. DENIES ELIGIBILITY TALE

DELEWARE, Jan. 23.—Officials at Ohio Wesleyan today flatly denied a considerable part of the published report on the Ohio Conference difficulties over eligibility which emanated from here late Saturday and which has caused some little local comment.

Wesleyan officials pointed out that they had not stated that the Wesleyan players cannot be cleared of the charges against them by a vote of the conference and that no statement on the situation whatsoever had been authorized.

It was also officially stated today that two university officials were not out of the city Saturday as reported in order to confer with officials at Oberlin and elsewhere with regard to the Wesleyan athletic situation.

Earlier in the week a member of the Ohio Wesleyan faculty talked informally with Ohio Conference representatives of two other institutions with the purpose, it is said, of getting the individual point of view of these men on the Wesleyan difficulty.

No final action on the men declared ineligible by the conference has been taken at Wesleyan and it was further stated today that officials have as yet outlined no complete plan for dealing with the situation.

BASKETBALL FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Q. Does a field goal count when a ball has been deliberately banked off the ceiling into the basket?

A. There is no rule prohibiting a man from shooting a basket in this way. Usually, on courts where there is a low ceiling, a ground rule is made before game starts so the home team, accustomed to these odd conditions, may not possess an advantage.

Q. Is it a foul if a player when dribbling changes hands without letting the ball come into contact with both hands?

A. No.

Q. If two players are jumping in a cage, and ball is tapped to ceiling can ball be caught when it comes down by either of them?

A. Yes.

Q. Kindly advise me how the rule used in professional basketball in this way. Usually, the man fouled to try for goal came into usage?

A. During the season of 1909-1910 the Hudson River League first introduced this rule.

Q. Can I make a bounce pass to another player at the end of a dribble?

A. Yes.

How To Play Basketball

Offense. The best offense is the short passing game. It puts every member of the team in motion. The players keep changing direction breaking toward the ball to receive the pass and catching and passing while still on the run. This naturally tends to confuse the opponents and break up their defense. Short passes in the middle of the floor tends to draw the defense out and allows offense players to cut for basket. Short passing close to the basket is also most effective. It often confuses the defense to such an extent that they continually block one another off. It must be kept in mind that it is impossible to develop the short passing game unless the players keep in motion. And it is important that the receiver always cut toward the ball. There is great danger of your passes being intercepted if you pass to a player standing still or to one who is moving from the passer when the pass is made.

THREE TALL ONES

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The Red Sox will have on their roster this year three of the tallest hurlers in captivity, the club statisticians say.

Daniel Roy Fowlkes, purchased from the Memphis club of the Southern Association, is said to be the tallest man in the American League. He is six feet five and one-fourth inches. Carl Stinson, acquired from the Rock Island club of the Mississippi Valley League, stands six feet five. Howard Ehaue, obtained from Detroit, in the deal by which Pratt and Collins went West, is six feet four.

Ohio State's basketball team is not setting the world on fire as it has already dropped three Western Conference games.

Brains Make Champs In All Sport Lines

BY HENRY J. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(United Press)—"Many ball games are won during the season by crossing ball players who think in the same groove all the time," John McGraw in his "My Thirty Years in Baseball."

The Giant leader referred to the trap into which the Yankees were led deliberately three times by big players during the world's series.

"There are many 'groove-thinkers' in baseball, but they are not confined to the professional diamond pasture. They are in every sport. The inability to think in other than an established line of thought is the margin between a champion and a dolt."

If Charley White could think fast and with some originality he would have been the lightweight champion of the world long ago and probably would be in possession of the title now.

Benury Leonard would not be the lightweight king now if Lou Tiedler used his thinking apparatus in Jersey City last summer.

Jack Britton would never have been able to hold on as welterweight champion if he had followed a mechanical habit in the ring without using his head.

Yale had eleven intelligent young men on her football team last fall but the machine couldn't seem to think as a unit. It worked mechanically and it lost.

Tom Thorp, coach of the New York University eleven, saw most of the big games in the east and, he acted as an official at the three post-season games on the Pacific Coast.

Kincaid and Baker, two of the Southern California backs, are two of the finest players he has seen in a long time, he said on his return east.

Stockton and Gonzaga backfield stars, and Anderson and Degrot, California men, were also highly praised by him.

Southern California had a finely coached team and the University of California must have had a whole of a team to beat them, was his opinion.

Football Nets $159,063 At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, OHIO, January 23.—

Despite a net income of $159,063 from the first football season in Ohio Stadium, the Athletic Board of Ohio State University ended the new year confronted with Stadium construction obligations amounting to $500,000 in addition to regular operating expenses, according to announcement made today by J. W. John, director of athletics.

Attendance at five games played in Ohio Stadium during the first season in it, totaled 100,457, more than doubling the best previous record for old Ohio Field, which was 60,412 during 1921, the director reported.

Including the two road games at Illinois and Minnesota, the Ohio State football team played before approximately 200,000 people during 1922. Attendance at the three Western Conference games played in Ohio Stadium alone totaled 117,925, according to official figures.

Gross receipts for all five at-home games during 1922 are given out as $250,232.15 of which $229,743.50 was taken in at the three Western Conference games with Michigan, Chicago and Iowa. Under the Western Conference arrangement which gives one-half the gate receipts to the visiting school, guarantees aggregating $129,350.86 were paid, Michigan of course drawing the big pinn.

An amount something like $74,000 for its half of the dedication game receipts, an attraction which set a new attendance record of approximately 60,000 for an intercollegiate contest in the middle west.

Not that Michigan hasn't had some good quarterbacks, for it has, but until last fall the dean of football critics didn't see fit to recognize them in an All-American way.

Take, for instance, "Boss" Weeks, 1902 captain, and still considered by Yost as the best pilot he has had during the 22 seasons he has been coaching at Michigan; Fred Norcross, 1905 leader; "Shorty" McMillan, star in 1910-11; Tommy Hughitt, who played the entire Harvard game in 1914 with a fractured collar bone; and Cliff Sparks, sterling quarter in 1916-17-19. All of the above men were good field generals, and there were others, too, but the name goes to Little Uteritz, who in his two campaigns at Michigan has developed in to a twinkler of the first degree.

For some reason or other, though, Camp has never been very much impressed by quarterback developed in the west. In fact, very few have been able to get a place "in the sun" as far as any of his All-American teams were concerned.

Connie Mack Figures Ogden, Recruit Pitcher, Will Deliver

By NEA Service.

PHILADELPHIA, January 23.—Connie Mack is the most original cuss in the world. Probably that is the reason he is one of the greatest baseball leaders in the game.

"You must have pitching to get anywhere," says the genial Mack, "and I expect much improved work from my boys next season."

"It wouldn't surprise me if a youngster on my pitching staff by the name of Ogden proved one of my most effective twirlers next season."

No doubt that statement from Mack will cause a lot of people to wonder who Ogden is.

The youngster is a Swarthmore collegian, still in college. He is a brother of the Ogden who for several years has been the star of the Baltimore team.

What did Ogden do last year? Nothing very impressive; won one and lost four games.

However, Connie Mack should know and his opinion of Ogden is interesting to say the least.

DOWNEY AND RYAN BATTLE TO DRAW

CINCINNATI, Jan. 23.—Anthony Downey, of Columbus, and Billy Ryan of Cincinnati, boxed a ten round draw here last night before the largest crowd ever assembled to witness an indoor contest in Cincinnati. Downey outpointed his opponent, but 25- an evened matters by outpunching the Columbus fighter, according to newspaper men at the ringside. They weighed in at 155 pounds.

UTERITZ IS FIRST MICHIGAN QUARTER PICKED BY CAMP

By NEA Service.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., January 23.—When Walter Camp named Irwin Uteritz of Michigan as quarterback on his third All-American eleven for 1922, he accorded the Ann Arbor school which had never before received. For Uteritz is the first Michigan signal-caller to be elected for any of Camp's mythical teams.

Not that Michigan hasn't had some good quarterbacks, for it has, but until last fall the dean of football critics didn't see fit to recognize them in an All-American way.

Take, for instance, "Boss" Weeks, 1902 captain, and still considered by Yost as the best pilot he has had during the 22 seasons he has been coaching at Michigan; Fred Norcross, 1905 leader; "Shorty" McMillan, star in 1910-11; Tommy Hughitt, who played the entire Harvard game in 1914 with a fractured collar bone; and Cliff Sparks, sterling quarter in 1916-17-19. Third Base Is Hard To Fill In American

According to the official averages of the American League, third base was the hardest regular position to fill during the 1922 season. For no less than 24 players were tried at the hot corner by the eight clubs in the circuit.

Of this number, Boston ranked high, using five men at the post, while the Yankees and Washington were knotted for second place, each employing four tossers at the hot while the race was in progress. Then came St. Louis with three, followed by Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago and the Athletics with two apiece.

Of the two dozen third sackers, but three of them played in 100 or more games. Jimmy Dykes of the Mackmen topped the field with 141 to his credit. Joe Dugan, who was with both Boston and New York was in 123 frays, and Bobby Jones, Detroit, 113.

At second base a marked contrast was displayed—but 13 men totting at the hot-stonesack during the campaign. And of these, as many as eight were in 120 games or over. In fact, five of the group got into 154 hits. This quintet included Collins, Chicago; Ward, New York; McManus, Browns; Pratt, Boston, and Harris, Washington.

Obviously those five clubs didn't make a change at the cushion all season. Of the others, Detroit used two men, and Cleveland and the Athletics three each.

How Schaefer Forced Umps To Call Game

By NEA Service.

"The funniest situation I ever saw staged on the ball field happened in Cleveland back in 1906 or 1907," says Charley O'Leary, now assistant to Miller Huggins at New York.

"I was playing shortstop for De Witt at the time. When the game started it looked like rain. Cleveland made three runs in the last of the fourth. It looked as if we were beaten and of course we decided to play for rain.

"Billy Evans was doing the umpiring. In the first of the fifth it started to sprinkle and we started to do everything possible to delay the game and annoy the umpire.

"Evans refused to be annoyed, and when our side was finally retired it was raining pretty hard.

"That made it a ball game and we were anxious for Bill to call it.

"Nothing doing," he replied, "you boys enjoyed yourself so much the last inning, it's a shame to deprive you of your fun."

"We played the next three innings in a driving rain. There was no chance of either side making a run. Evans let on he enjoyed the rain and was deaf to our entreaties to call it.

"Finally, Herman Schaefer, now dead, borrowed a rain coat and umbrella from a fan and appeared at his position at second in that regalia.

"He was the funniest sight I ever saw on the ball field, raincoat buttoned high up, umbrella in one hand, gloves on the other.

"That was too much for Evans—he called it."

Umpire Springs New One

NEWARK, Jan. 23.—"Babe" Connon, umpire, who worked in the Pacific Coast last year, is nothing if not original.

Byron, like the late Tim Lincecum, stands out as one of the characters of the game. He is different.

They do say that he can dig up more technicalities than any other umpire in the business.

For a time Byron worked in the International League. Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Boston club, tells this one about Byron.

Dunn was coaching at first base. The batter, with two out and three on, hit a high fly to the first baseman. Dunn kept looking away with the first baseman who was pursuing the ball, trying to create the impression that he was making every effort to get out of his way. At the same time Dunn kept yelling, "I got it," "I got it."

The fielder finally permitted Dunn to take it, feeling some other player on his side was trying to make the catch. The ball fell safe, but to Dunn's great surprise he heard Byron call the batter out.

"What for?" Dunn asked.

"Interference," replied Byron.

"What kind?" said Dunn.

"Vocal and on your part," replied Byron, and it went, thereby adding something new to interference plays.

THAT MILLIONAIRE FEELING

THE luxury of the feeling of being a millionaire has now been placed within the reach of the common people, thanks to the printing press of the Imperial Bank of Germany. Prior to the war the owner of a German mark could exchange it on his arrival in this country for 23.8 cents. For every figure it used to be calculated that four German marks were worth $1 in purchasing value. Today anyone owning $50 of real money could exchange it for more than 1,000,000 marks, and enjoy the millionaire feeling until he began to spend the money. To put it another way, the owner of a $50 baby bond of the Liberty Loan issue is better off today, financially, than the owner of a million-mark bank account in Germany the day before William II let loose the dogs of war. The mark is not worth the paper it is printed on, and the wonder is that the banks of Germany continue to issue them, or that American bankers continue to quote them. In the language of the cartoonist, "they don't mean anything," and we would not advise anyone to exchange 50 American dollars for 1,000,000 German marks, because the feeling of riches would be fleeting.

"COLUMNITIS" AND GOOD TASTE

AMERICAN architecture, according to a leading architect is suffering from a disease which may be called "Columnitis." Rows and rows of columns, particularly in Washington, he says, are camouflage for hideous buildings. Common sense, he adds, is the secret of success in all the arts. Lasting beauty is characterized by simplicity, and good taste always avoids the ornate and extravagant. The most attractive homes are those so skillfully designed that they fit in natural surroundings as though the whole were made in one piece. There is little that is ornate or extravagant in nature. Simplicity as a symbol of good taste, however, is not monopolized by the arts. It is applicable to dress, manners and language. The extravagantly dressed person usually attracts attention but makes a bad impression. Compare the officious politeness of a moving picture Spaniard with the unassuming conduct of a well bred friend. Orators and poets understand that things are said best briefly in words all understand. Good taste is a valuable possession.

NATIONAL DRAMA WEEK

THE Drama League of America, asks the co-operation of the public in the observance of this "National Drama Week." Each day throughout the week is to have its distinctive character with relation to the general scheme of observance. The libraries, the clubs and the schools and colleges thus will make their several contributions to the success of National Drama Week. Mark Twain said regarding the weather that everybody talked about it, but nobody did anything about it. Sometimes it has seemed as though our American drama, while far more amenable to improving influences than the weather, were regarded as equally irremediable by its unfriendly critics. The day for such destructive criticism should be past. The hope for elevating the standards of the American theatre lies with the great American public. It gets the sort of plays and actors it shows that it desires by its support or by its indifference to the claims of art.

The Drama League of America has a distinct mission, to make our national life more wholesome, interesting and inspiring, and it deserves substantial encouragement.

FIGHTING BY PROXY

THE football coach of the University of Michigan proclaims the value of the game in developing "the unquenchable fighting spirit so badly needed" by American youth "living a life of luxury on soft cushioned automobile seats." Passing up his notion of American youth, it may be asked how much unquenchable fighting spirit is developed by the system which restricts actual playing the game to a mere handful and leaves the tens of thousands mere spectators? He does make the argument that those who urge a more general system of college and school athletics have not done anything to finance it, inferring that football is the thing, because it is financially self-supporting, often indeed financing other athletics as well. The need is for a saner, popular opinion demanding collegiate and school athletics that will be of general benefit instead of a mere spectacle.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Julia Hoyt has achieved the great ambition. She is a leading lady on Broadway and critics who have written of her for the past few years with their tongues in their cheeks pronounce her a success. Stardom, they say, is just around the corner.

Julia Hoyt in private life is Mrs. Lydig Hoyt, one of the leading society women. She graces the real upper crust. The stage has always been her goal. In the beginning she had nothing but beauty and social position. New York merely grinned. Managers were not interested. So Mrs. Hoyt became a figure in charity pageants—posing for the benefit of starving Armenians and the like. She had a fling or two on the screen, but caused no jealousy in Hollywood.

The truth is, and we say it with no desire to discredit the estimable lady, she was becoming a laughing stock. I remember of our theatrical paper classing her with the famous Cherry Sisters.

Then she disappeared and reports seeped back that she was playing in a summer stock company in Indianapolis. A social gossip journal said: "Beautiful Julia has taken her talents where they belong—to the sticks."

She returned a few months ago and began rehearsal in a play written by Booth Tarkington. Billie Burke is the star. At the opening night society was there, hoping for the best, and fearing the worst. The critics expected to hurl their usual javelins. Miss Hoyt appeared in a part that was inspired to have the audience dislike her—a role, incidentally, that is the most difficult of all to play. But she did it so well that she was called back as often as the star. New York reviewers to a man declared that she had arrived.

On Baxter Street—the second hand clothing district—I saw three little shavers, the oldest not more than 12, sitting around an ash can puffing valiantly at pipes.

"You'll stunt your growth, boys," I called. And a woman in a doorway, who proved to be the mother, gave me a tongue-lashing that I will never forget—adding that I was a "low life son-of-a-bitch."

It is strange how we want to reform the world after some sudden resolve to reform ourselves. That morning I had just sworn off smoking. It

An Answer to "Sunday Morning"

Sunday morning, Sunday morning, How she'd like to lie in bed But the most of tired mothers Have to rise and go ahead With their daily round of duties. Though they often feel half dead. While the care-free working husbands Have a chance to lie in bed.

Sunday morning, Sunday morning, Daddy dear must stay in bed. But the mothers of all races Know the children must be fed. Daddy often has his breakfast In soft slippers and a robe. Though he feels he is mistreated. Mother carries half the load.

Sunday morning, Sunday morning, Only six short days to work! But in mother's week there's seven And she's never known to shirk. Come, brave bards, and sing a lyric. Mother's gone to church alone, While Dad's snoring like old Satan And may never read this "poem." —Elsie B. Pursell.

Saw Him First

A Quaker had gotten himself into trouble with the authorities and the sheriff called to escort him to the lock-up.

"Is your husband in?" he inquired of the good wife, who came to the door.

"My husband will see thee," she replied. "Come in."

The sheriff entered, was bidden to make himself at home, and was hospitably entertained for half an hour, but no husband appeared. At last the sheriff grew impatient.

"Look here," said he, "I thought you said your husband would see me."

"He has seen thee," was the calm reply; "but he did not like thy looks and has gone another way."—Harp-er's Magazine.

GOOD MANNERS

To a guest, the well-bred hostess may perhaps make some explanation of a condition of momentary disorder in her home.

But she does not apologize for what, possibly in her own mind, she may consider its permanent shortcomings, due to financial or other unavoidable reasons. She takes it for granted that the visitor will accept her hospitality as the best she has to offer without the necessity for reference to the fact.

The guest, needless to say, never implies a criticism by word or look.
